BRIEF ABSTRACT OF LETTER.

NOTES AND ORDERS.

SUBJECT NO. 7.

Extradition Act.

Mr. Vasudeva Rao, Chikmagalur Taluk.

Summary of discussion.—Labor for coffee and cardamom estates is drawn from British territories and the coolies who run away to the said territories after receiving advances cannot be easily arrested on warrants. It is therefore prayed that an Extradition Act may be passed.

Reply of Government.—The representation will be considered.

1 The Government of India have more than once refused to include cases under Breach of Contract Act among the cognizable offences. Mr Cranfurd of the South Mysore Planters' Association accordingly requested last year that the system of issuing bailable warrants in such cases as had once before been requested by the planters of South India might be tried. But as complying with this request would mean the passing of a labor law for this State on the lines of Madras Act I of 1903, which the planters did not want, Mr Cranfurd was informed in reply that Govt. did not consider it expedient to take any action in the matter. (vide note to the accompanying file). In this connection, the Dewan was however pleased to remark as follows:-

H. of. et Seq.

"... It would be something if these (Madras Assn.) sought for complete reciprocity in the matter of extradition, but the bailable warrant is not worth approaching the Government of Madras with (vide page 5 of the note above referred to)

3 Mr Vasudeva Rao, Member for the Chick-magalur Taluk, seems to represent that steps may now be taken to make

4 The Govt of India has always been against making a breach of contract under Act XIII of 1859, an extraditable offence. ~~under Act of 1879 of 1879~~ (Vide paras 71, ~~and~~ 72, 106 and 141 of the Report of the South of India Planters' Enquiry Committee). The question of bailable warrants was considered last year ~~by us~~ and it was deemed inexpedient to take any action in the matter. There seems to be no use in pressing ~~the~~ question this subject.

Secy) 10.1.08. JMM

5 I do not think the Madras Govt & Govt of India will agree to ~~make~~ make the offence extraditable. The question of bailable warrants was considered last year and was dropped as not of much use.

be informed accordingly and that the Myore Durbar are not prepared to take any initiative in the matter -

[I fr one sympathize with the request in question & think that there should be complete reciprocity in the interests of the public communities concerned - It is not as a matter of state alone, but in the vital interests of the Communities themselves]

Letter of Forwd

10.2

Only the more serious crimes are extraditable The Breach of Contract Act is a quasi civil regulation introduced specially for the benefit of employers of labor. The objections of the Govt of India to treat offences under the Act as extraditable can therefore be readily understood

The Extradition Act is in respect of offences committed in Native States and does not apply to offences committed in British India and the offenders take refuge in Native States. Reciprocity is therefore not the question.

The representative Member may be informed that the request cannot be complied with.
